Sprague's shot gun refused to go off this time, and his independent boom for Govtime, and his independent boom for Governor of Rhode Island has been knocked out of time by the old-line Democrats. And all this was caused by the officious interference of Ben Butler, who announced that he was coming over into Macedonia to help Sprague through. The keen minded Democrats of the little State scented in this maneuvre of Ben's the first move for a solid delegation from New Bengland in his favor to the Democratic National Convention. Butler will soon learn that this is a bad year for demagogues, and Sprague will have occasion to tearfully remark. The public schools of the city closed yesterday for the regular spring vacation and examinations were held in the various grades. It is extremely gratifying to know that the education of the children in useful knowledge has never been more carefully provided for or more judiciously and thoroughly conducted. The prescribed course of study to which prominence is given are those branches which are specially adapted to the pursuits of practical life; and each step is not beyond any child of average mind. Our schools are growing in public favor and compare favorably with other schools of like grade throughout the country. The high standard they have attained is owing to the ermest and intelligent efforts of the City Superintendent, seconded by a corps of conscientious and painstaking teachers who take pride in accomplishing the best results possible.

Mr. Roscoe, one of Davidson county's Representatives, wrote the following explanation of his vote to table the amendment offered by Mr. Hawkins to the State Debt bill excluding the bonds of Mrs Polk, from payment dollar for dollar; "Within a stone's throw of this Capitol resides Mrs. Polk, the wife of a President of the United States a woman so great in all the qualities. States, a woman so great in all the qualities of a noble womanhood that the great and good of all countries who visit our city light to call on her and pay ti respects. The heroic Jackson hin respects. The heroic Jackson himself did not, in his declining years sustain the proud position he once occupied, with more dignity than has Mrs. Polk. James K. Polk still lives, and we feel his presence in his noble feminine counterpart, and he cannot die until she is laid in the tomb beside him. Gentlemen—It is a well-known fact a syndicate of bondholders in New York have bought up the bonds of Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina for the very purpose of manipulating our conventions and lobbying our Legislatures to make a few millions of dollars, and gentlemen of this House would arrange it for making Mrs. Polk a preferred creditor over these money sharks. I voted then to lay the amendment-on the table."
